

Childhood Education

journal of the association for childhood education international

September/October 2016
vol. 92, no. 5

"Incubating" Literacy
Development in Japan

Democratically Appropriate
Practices in Four Countries

Motivating STEM Learning

Science Investigations in Diverse Settings

School Reform and Gifted Learners

Child Care in Singapore

Family-Teacher Partnerships

Educating Orphans in Kenya

ACEI Celebrates 125 Years of Commitment to Children • 1892-2017

Childhood Education

journal of the
association for childhood education international

features

- 339 Incubating Ideas: Developing Thinking, Speaking, and Writing in a Japanese 1st Grade
Lucy Spence and Toshiya Tanaka
- 345 Child-Initiated Pedagogies: Moving Toward Democratically Appropriate Practices in Finland, England, Estonia, and the United States
Jarmo Kinos, Leena Robertson, Nancy Barbour, and Maarika Pukk
- 358 Working With Families to Inspire Children's Persistence in STEM
Rashmi Kumar
- 365 Science Learning for ALL Young Scientists: Exploring, Investigating, Learning, and Growing Together With Ramps and Pathways in Diverse Settings
Shelly L. Counsell and Brian L. Wright
- 373 School Reform and Gifted Learners: Getting Battered by the Waves of Change
Steve Haberin
- 377 Exploring Options in Early Childhood Care in Singapore: Programs and Roles
Kaili C. Zhang
- 383 Fostering Family-Teacher Partnerships: Principles in Practice
Mary Knight-McKenna and Heidi L. Hollingsworth
- 391 Educating Orphaned and Vulnerable Children in Elgeyo-Marakwet County, Kenya
Grace Jepkemboi, Pauline Jolly, KaNesha Gillyard, and Lydia Lissanu

- 396 The Relationship Between the Duration of Preschool Education and Primary School Readiness
Özgül Polat and Ezgi Akşin Yavuz

departments

- 405 Organization Spotlight:
Right From the Start in the Digital Age:
A New Challenge for Teachers and Parents of Children in Grades K-3
Barbara Sprung and Merle Froschl
- 409 Focus on Elementary:
What Is "Good Teaching" for Elementary
English Language Learners?
Heather B. Cunningham and Patricia A. Crawford
- 415 Focus on Technology:
Inspiring Students to Read With Online Book
Collections
Danielle E. Forest and Hani Morgan
- 419 Focus on Family:
A Double-Edged Sword: Preparing Preservice Teachers to Work With Diverse
Families Through Community-Based Learning
Ashley Vaughns

Promoting innovative solutions to education challenges and inspiring action that creates positive, sustainable futures for children and youth worldwide.