A word from the Editor

This beginning to a new year introduces us to a roundup of great things in our annual compendium. It is a fitting way to begin a fresh start in 2016, to say the least. Taking things back to the home seems like a good idea to restart things, since that is where architecture started in the first millennium ago. The story proves that in the realm of this category, there are plenty to re-invent, revisit, rethink. And occupants still find plenty to enjoy, regardless of size, price or place.
