Words From the Editor

This month's feast of design and architecture is particularly diverse. Each issue alone contains an unprecedented four projects that could not be compared to each other, from Versailles to Venice, Thailand to Tasmania. Each project is done in its own right ways. And once those pieces have your appetite thoroughly whetted, head to the Project Files section for houses, wine bars, offices, and educational institutions. But no matter what, leave ample time to study the Fulcrum entry this month – an astonishing museum in Estonia that combines audacity with simplicity. It's a chance to rethink an ex-Soviet-era military base. Many of us head off for sunnier climes this year – let your imaginations wander too.
