WAR CAN NEVER BE JUST

BY JOHN—CONVERSET, MCCJ

The theory of "just war" was intended to promote peace and set very strict conditions for a war to be considered just. Unfortunately, it has been used to endorse rather than prevent or limit war. Christian thinkers are putting it into question and calling for a new teaching on nonviolence.

MISSION IN CONFLICT ZONES

BY DANIEL P. ZARANTONELLO, MCCJ

A Comboni community is inserted in the troubled city of Tumaco, in the western part of Colombia, where the impact of armed conflict is deeply felt. It provides pastoral care to the black population. One of the missionaries recounts his mission experience of living in the area for the past five years.

RECONCILIATION PATHS

BY ANTONIO LA BRACA, MCCJ

In a country ravaged by war, forgiveness is the contribution Christians can offer to a society divided along ethnic lines and rivalries. A missionary in South Sudan shares a couple of stories on how his teaching brought about pardon, mutual acceptance and peace.
